

What I Want To Learn In English 9

This year in English, I would like to work on three different aspects of my writing. These topics include using more advanced vocabulary, improving my grammar, and spelling. Advanced vocabulary helps enhance the text, therefore, establishing a more intriguing outline for the reader. Having the correct grammar when writing is important. Proper grammar is a sign of attention to detail and effort for one's work. It also prevents you from being misunderstood. Spelling is the last piece of my writing that I would like to improve. Good spelling avoids confusion, and errors can distract the reader, causing them to lose focus. If I can get better in these areas, I can become a stronger writer.
