

Scrapbook project

BY JACOB

ARTIFACT ONE

- Minecraft project for social studies

S.S Minecraft Colony.mcworld

Communication

It this project for social studies communication was key for making this project. We were pared up with one other person and we were tasked with making a realistic colony in Minecraft. The first-time communication was very important was when we had to pick were we wanted to make the colony. The second time communication was very important was when we had to pick how we wanted the buildings to look. I wanted the buildings to look more rustic and old but my partner wanted the buildings to look new like they were just built, so we settled with the houses looking rustic and the church and farm looking new. The third time communication was key was when we were deciding on the flag for our colony. Our teacher wanted us to come up with an original flag for our colony, I wanted to base the flag off different flags around the world, but my partner wanted us to make a flag that I did not like at all, so we compromised my doing my design I wanted and using the colors he wanted.

ARTIFACT TWO

- Candy wrapper design for business

I could not add a link to this project

Creative Thinking

In this project I had to use creative thinking a lot because we had to create a candy wrapper that was very original. The first way I used creative thinking was when choosing the colors for my candy wrapper. I had to think very hard for this because I wanted a color that people haven't seen a chocolate bar wrapper look like before. The second way I used creative thinking in this project is when I had to choose the name for my chocolate bar. I wanted a name that was easy to remember and catchy but also sounded like a chocolate bar. The third way I used creative thinking is when I had to choose the tag line for my chocolate bar. What I did for the tag line is I looked at other chocolate bar companies tag lines, and I based my tag line off of theirs.

ARTIFACT THREE

- Personal finance project for business

Link:

Critical Thinking

This is my personal finance assignment for business class. Critical thinking was a key part in making this project because I came across many problems that I had to overcome. The first problem that occurred was when I had to find all the cost for books, gas, etc. and calculate it all together. How I overcome this issue was I asked my peers for help and watched a video on YouTube. The second problem that occurred was when I had to find out how much I would be getting paid and find out what the tax from my salary would be. I overcome this problem by asking my teacher for help and she directed me to a website that would calculate this for me. The third problem that occurred was when I had to calculate my savings over the years to see how big of a house I could afford minus the monthly and one-time fees. I overcome this problem by looking to see what my peers did for their monthly and one-time fees and for the calculation of my savings I just toughed it out and did the math on my own.