SECTION D: HIT THE POST!

- <https://www.positivityguides.net/category/health/>
- I chose this blog because, last year I did a project on how not enough sleep causes illnesses and all about how to take care of your mental health especially now with the whole pandemic. This means a lot to me that there are bloggers out there making sure to raise awareness because there is to, much stigma and people should not feel embarrassed to talk about their mental health. Whether we know it or not people we know, speak to, see around the school are struggling with their mental health everyday so that is why we need to spread awareness and make sure there is help for everyone and no more stigma about this topic. it is important to create a safe environment to talk about these things.
