"If you're wrapped up in a ball or going down a rabbit hole of negative thinking, you either need to take a nap or change the damn scenery. Walk your dog, get some air, and reflect on what you've accomplished. In a year like this, people have lost so much. So take inventory of the people closest to you and write them a card or do something nice for them, you never know who's feeling the same way you are.

Don't dwell on things you can't change, it's like trying to drive through a dead end. You're in control of where you go from here, and how you respond to adversity."
