My you trailer was one of the first things I did to start off Film 9. It was tough because it was the first trailer I ever made, and it had to be completely original . Therefore, I had to think of very creative shots to film and a little bit of a story. As I played around with all the different angles, I found some really unique shot of me and my dog. Overall, I built my filming skills up, and now if I could redo this project, I would be very confident experimenting with my own shots and my own crazy story ideas. I'd like to expand my knowledge and create my own actual movie.

Learning about a total new religion to me is very tough I had to think very critically. I had to think of unique inquiry questions to continue my learning on buddhism. My teacher from grade 8 explained saying we must learn buddhism so well we are pros in the topic. After this project was over, we had to express how much we enjoyed the culture by creating a buddhim temple and villinge in Minecraft. You had to think very hard to try and out work and find out more than the other group members in buddhism.

HISTORY

- Buddhism was founded in the 6th Century BCE by Siddhartha Gautama.
- He wanted to find a way off the endless cycle of rebirths and on the path to enlightenment.
- Siddhartha meditated and practiced self-denial for weeks and weeks until he reached the answer.
- Siddhartha is known as the first Buddha.

Communication was a huge factor I needed do this project. At the begiening of the project we had to interveiw a person choosen at random. It was the first or second week of freanch so I only knew some people pretty well. Although it was fun meeting new people. Especially because of COVID-19 and how you couldn't really socailize with anyone prior. I got to know Ryden very well asking funny questions. The questions involved Whats youre celebterie crush?, Whats youre most embaresing moment?, and Whats youre favourite food. Overall, I found it helpful to boost my communication skills.
